Statement from Koch Foods Regarding Immigration Actions Today at Facilities

Koch Foods is fully cooperating with Immigration and Customs Enforcement agents who today executed searches at company facilities in Fairfield, Ohio, and Park Ridge, Ill.

As part of our standard employment process, we require employees to provide documentation in accordance with the law, and we have implemented a program to audit this documentation. Additionally, we are in the process of implementing a company-wide program through the Department of Homeland Security verification system to ensure that all of our workers are fully documented and eligible to work.

Koch Foods is committed to complying with all immigration laws, and we look forward to resolving this matter quickly.

In the meantime, we are continuing normal business operations at the Park Ridge facility, and will resume operations this evening in Fairfield. We remain focused on quality and service as we continue to supply fresh and frozen poultry products for food service and retail operators across the country and around the world.
